

Alternatives to holding entire hazardous household waste collection events

Because hazardous household waste collection programs tend to be expensive, smaller communities cannot always afford to hire a collection firm. Some alternatives to holding entire collection events are: having a "paint only" collection and/or paint swap, having a "waste oil only" collection, having a "battery only" collection, or having a combination of the above collections.

Small collections can be conducted inexpensively and in some cases profits even show a profit. Remember, volunteers greatly reduce labor costs.
